English Sentence Construction - Building Strong Communication Skills Instructions

This workbook builds strong sentence-construction and writing skills through ten chapters of graduated practice. Each chapter is twenty pages and ramps from easy to hard. Work the chapters in order.

- Ten chapters, each 20 pages. Work them in order; each builds on the last.
- Every chapter drills one skill with the same few items seen several times, so patterns stick.
- Read all instructions carefully before starting each exercise.
- Choose the best word from the choices, and write clearly on the lines provided.
- Use context clues from the sentence or passage to help you decide.
- Check your work against the answer key at the back and learn from any mistakes.
- The final chapter mixes every skill for cumulative review.

Strong sentence construction is the foundation of clear communication. Steady, repeated practice is what makes it stick, so keep going and enjoy the progress.

Climate scientists analyze long-term patterns in temperature and precipitation to understand global change. Rising concentrations of greenhouse gases trap additional heat within the atmosphere. This warming contributes to melting ice caps, rising sea levels, and more frequent extreme weather. Reducing emissions and investing in renewable energy are considered essential strategies for mitigation.

- 1) Explain what gases trap additional heat in the _____?

- 2) Explain what must be reduced to slow the warming of the _____?

The human immune system defends the body against harmful pathogens. White blood cells identify and destroy invading bacteria and viruses. When exposed to a new threat, the body produces antibodies that provide future protection. Vaccination harnesses this natural mechanism, training the immune system to recognize dangers before an actual infection occurs.

- 1) Explain what cells identify and destroy invading _____?

- 2) Explain what does the body produce to provide future _____?

- 3) Explain what trains the immune system before an actual _____?

Read the passage and then answer the questions.

Oceans regulate the planet's climate by absorbing vast amounts of heat and carbon dioxide. Currents distribute warm and cold water around the globe, influencing weather patterns far inland. Rising temperatures, however, threaten fragile coral reefs and disrupt marine life. Scientists emphasize that protecting the oceans is inseparable from safeguarding the broader environment.

- 1) Explain what do oceans absorb to help regulate the _____?

- 2) Explain what fragile structures are threatened by rising _____?
